

Nathan Hefner

“Hefner’s exciting sound brings to life a show of big band music. Las Vegas cabaret and pop.”
-Catawba

“(Hefner’s) music is tastefully played with style and grace.”
-Interactive Weekly

“Hefner can do magical things with a piano”
-News Herald

Nathan Hefner has been charming audiences all over the east coast for more than 10 years with his dazzling repertoire of music encompassing nearly 70 years of musical triumph. From the tranquil sounds of the early crooners to the edgier rockabilly of the 50’s & 60’s, when Hefner opens a number his energy and vocal grace bring to life an age that has passed us by—if only for the duration of a song.

The swinging brass of the big bands as well as the intimate sounds of the post W. W. II era captivated young Hefner. His appreciation of the music led him to begin singing publicly at age 3 and playing the piano by age 5. Hefner was already performing for local events and various civic organizations by the age of 11. He continued his solo performing into high school where he met his collaborators in creating one of the area’s premiere swing and jazz groups,

In '92, Hefner and three schoolmates formed Sentimental Journey. The group was well received by the local public and performed constantly throughout '92 and '93. One of their more notable shows was “Sentimental Journey- Reunion” performed in response to local interest generated during a brief hiatus. The four members parted ways after high school and the name lay dormant until '96 when Hefner created a new incarnation of Sentimental Journey- this time as a trio. The group had yet to see it’s greatest success. While already enjoying popularity throughout the Southeast, Hefner had a dream come true...In 1997, Sentimental Journey opened for Hefner’s idol, the legendary Patti Page. That same year, the trio participated in the opening of Harrah’s Casino in Cherokee with a three-night run. In 1998, Sentimental Journey had the privilege of kicking off the Jacksonville Jazz Festival, one of the three largest such festivals in the US. The group also had a request from (1999 Golden Globe nominee) Reese Witherspoon, to be the exclusive entertainment for her Charleston, SC wedding to fellow actor Ryan Phillippe. Sentimental Journey entertained well and often until the latter months of 1999 when Hefner formally dissolved the group.

Hefner’s solo performing career has continued throughout; neither stopping for his work with Sentimental Journey nor for his brief stint at Appalachian State University. His many notable shows include performances with the Smothers Brothers, The Letterman, and Concord Jazz recording artist, Dennis Rowland. Hefner, along with Cathy Gason, also has headlined the Grand Hyatt Ballroom in NYC. Hefner and Eason still team up occasionally, including a yearly benefit concert in Charleston, SC-always drawing a packed house.

In 1999, Hefner teamed up with Atlanta singing personality Lenny Stabile in what would become one of his most successful ventures. The two artists (Stabile 60, Hefner 25) created the popular “Two Of A Kind” act based upon the song written by music legends Johnny Mercer and Bobby Darin. Both singers were an immediate hit with audiences everywhere. Hefner finally was able to incorporate “rat pack” style comedy into his routine as the two traded hilarious quips with each other. “Two Of A Kind” is still an ongoing show more popular now than ever.

Whether it’s small town festivals or big name events, intimate jazz ensembles or smoking big band revues, the music never stops. With a schedule growing ever more hectic (at 200 dates annually), Hefner continues winning enthusiastic fans and adding a new style to an old song and dance.
